Quick Police Action Saves Two-Year-Old Girl

Quick action by a Belle Glade woman and Belle Glade police averted what could have been a tragedy Thursday morning when a two-year-old girl was plucked from Hillsborough Canal.

Mrs. Carl Close stopped at the police station to say two small children were playing near the canal bank. They were looking down South Canal St. when they fell into the water. They raced to the children of a point near N. W. 4th St. (S) in time to pull Patty Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bryant, from the water.

Her brother, Neal, Jr., aged three, was calmly throwing pebbles into the canal as his sister floundered some five feet from the bank. They were both returned to their parents unhurt.

From my front porch...

...I watch the world go by.

Almost every screen or television play that has New York as its setting, shows us the awe-inspiring skyline or Broadway's glitter; a swanky nightclub or a luxury penthouse, Park Avenue or the slums.

Seldom do the cameras dwell upon the rows of respectable old brownstone flats which line many Manhattan streets, or enter into the quiet homes in which the majority of New Yorkers spend uneventful lives. Apparently those who prepare our movie and TV fare believe that we want to see only the great city's glamour and excitement.

But I'm convinced that the people resident on my shaded Midwestern street would be interested in the quite normal lives these New Yorkers lead, and that they would feel a warm understanding of their sorrows and joys. We would feel close to them; loving thy neighbor is not limited by state lines. There was an unpretentious little TV play a while back about an ordinary, lonely New Yorker who worked in a meat market, how he met a lonely, unglamorous girl, and how they found happiness together. It was a hit and then became a hit movie - because people, just people, like it. "Marty," people are that way.

All the strength and force of a man comes from his faith in things unseen. —James Freeman Clarke

It was a wonderful trip she said the climate was perfect and the flowers were beautiful.

Winter Feed Now A Big Challenge

The need for more winter feed remains the largest challenge to present-day herd and pasture management, according to Drs. E. M. Hodges and J. E. McCaleb, agronomists at the Range Cattle Experiment Station at Ona.

Foremost among the methods developed for meeting this problem is the practice of reserving pasture for winter use. Protection from grazing from August to October, combined with suitable fertilization, has proved a reliable method of providing grazing for November and later.

Extremes of wet and cold weather during 1957-58 emphasized the importance of having stored forage available for winter feeding. The need for this safety factor becomes more acute as pasture improvement and cattle stocking rates are intensified.

A number of workable hay and silage practices have been developed by researchers and cattlemen. Some are suitable for one circumstance and some valuable for others. All involve a large measure of advance planning and their success depends upon meeting this requirement.

Tax Assessor's Office Open Thursday Until 8

County tax assessor, David Stewart, has announced that the assessors office Room 201 County Court House, West Palm Beach will be open until 8 p. m. Thursday, Feb. 11 to receive applications for Homestead Exemption. The office is being kept open to accommodate people who cannot come to the court house during regular office hours. Deadline for filing Homestead Exemption is March 31. However everyone is urged to apply early.

Rotational grazing has come to be widely used in obtaining the full value of improved pasture forage. Cattle utilize available feed more completely when moved from pasture to pasture at regular intervals. Even the short supplies available during the winter have more value when managed this way.

Drs. Hodges and McCaleb say the idea of rotation can be carried over from the handling of grazing cattle and applied to date of fertilization with equal benefit.

Since the greatest effect of fertilization of grass pastures comes within 30 to 60 days after application, it has been shown that treating different areas on successive dates will furnish a uniform supply of grazing. This practice has been used to avoid wasteful excesses of pasture and provide greater returns without increasing costs.

Good Management Needed On Pasture

Since winter pastures are of vital importance to keep cattle and dairymen, proper management is necessary if the large returns are to be expected.

Dr. James McSmith, soils specialist with the Florida Agricultural Extension Service, says three types of winter pastures supplying the major portion of winter feed are reserve pastures, small grains and clover-grass combinations.

Maximum use of reserve grass pasture can best be had by grazing it in conjunction with clover or some other high-protein feed according to Dr. McSmith. Even though the grass in the reserve pasture is considerably higher in protein than regular unfertilized grass, it is still a high-grade roughage and not a high-protein feed.

Small grains are very good sources of winter forage if properly managed. Floriland and Seminole soils will produce good tonnages of high-quality forage when properly grazed, says the soils specialist.

A four-week grazing rotation gives the largest amount of high-quality forage. Start grazing when the oats are 10 to 12 inches high and graze to a suitable height of four to six inches. Dr. McSmith warns that grazing to a shorter stubble greatly increases the chances of winter kill and reduces the amount of forage produced.

He points out that permanent clover-grass pastures are the mainstay of the winter forage program. Fall fertilizer, with a liberal supply of potash, should be applied if not done previously.

Rotational grazing should be practiced, says Dr. McSmith. Over-grazing, in many instances, is the cause of disappointment with clover-grass pastures. In the spring, fertilize these pastures again with a liberal amount of potash. This helps clover live over during the summer.

First Brahman bull arrived in Florida from India in the 1860's. First herd shipment of Brahmans was reported in 1916.

Dr. Scott Speaks At BGHS Assembly

Dr. J. Leighton Scott, pastor, Everglades Presbyterian Church, was principal speaker at the Tuesday assembly program at Belle Glade High School.

In his address, he told of the importance of a broom in that one should take the broom and sweep out all hard feelings to wipe out their minds and keep lights burning in the heart at all times.

One light is the light of truth, he said. The second is the light of thankfulness; the third light is the light of friendship, and a fourth is the light of hope.

Referring to the school as a wheel, he said the hub of the wheel is the teaching staff and the students are the spokes. To conclude, he said the broom should keep sweeping, and the wheel should keep turning.

After the homemaker award and Beta Club initiation (reported elsewhere in this issue) Coach Vince Marquess gave a pep talk about getting out and supporting the team.

Principal Morris addressed the group to emphasize the importance of good, regular attendance.

"Not only does it have a definite influence upon each student's grade," he said "but our class size is dependent upon our attendance." Teaching units are allotted by the state in proportion to the average daily attendance, not the enrollment of a school.

He said the 55-60 average absentee since exams are resulting in the reduction of needed teacher-faculty for next year. At the present absentee rate, he said, students could expect heavily-loaded classrooms next year.

She pointed out we should buy gadgets wisely selecting only those we really need and those we will take time to use. Several members demonstrated gadgets which they have found useful as well as some which were poor buys and are impractical for them.

The club's booth, "A Peaceful World Begins at Home" which won first prize at the So. Fla. Fair, was on display. Mrs. Pierce expressed hope that the $300.00 prize will be used to demonstrate a member to the Home Demonstration short course at Gainesville in July.

The group made plans to have a work meeting Friday afternoon, Feb. 12th to do textile painting and work on a friendship quilt. The next monthly meeting will be March 4th with a program on "Cooking for One or Two."

Those present included Mrs. Essie Surry, Mrs. Gladys Williams, Mrs. F. C. Fessenden, Mrs. Viola Uptain, Mrs. Eula Kingery, Mrs. G. C. Harper, Mrs. Christine Harper, Mrs. Ada Lindsey, Mrs. W. J. Adams, Mrs. Lula Atkinson, Mrs. J. K. Forkum, and Mrs. Julian Griggs.

Talk On Discipline Given At PTA Meet

There was a large turn out for the PTA meeting Monday night to hear the talk "Juvenile Discipline" by Principal S. M. Eisey of the Greenmeadows Elementary School.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Victor Greene, program chairman, and gave an excellent and interesting talk. He described the difference between parental discipline and school authority discipline giving examples many of which were humorous but true. He pointed out that many parents in Palm Beach County could trace their family tree back 300 years, but if asked where their children were last night they couldn't tell.

The meeting was opened with the devotion by Dr. Sam S. Hill, interim pastor of First Baptist Church, on "Importance of Hope in Spiritual Growth and Character Building."

The Glee Club accompanied by the piano by Miss Mary Texer, presented several familiar songs which were enjoyed by everyone. D. W. Fisher, president, presided at a brief business meeting. Room count was won by the Elementary School of the district meeting March 19 at the Civic Center, Stuart.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Mrs. M. E. Beck, Mrs. W. J. Norris, Mrs. J. C. Betts, Mrs. Robert Edens and Mrs. Jack Kaufman.

A newcomer to Belle Glade, Mrs. David Rowe, following the meeting remarked that every parent in Belle Glade should have been present to hear Principal Eisey.

C of C Directors Need Census Takers To Apply

The United States Bureau of Census is looking for qualified enumerators to work in the Glades area during this year's census. Applications may be submitted to Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce for processing. Persons must apply not later than Feb. 15.

Qualifications include being 18 years of age, a U. S. citizen with high school education or equivalent, and they must be able to read and write well and be in good physical condition.

There is pay, the hours are long, and it's a walking job. Contact the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce for more information.

Tuesday night C of C directors discussed how to find applicants for this job during their regular meeting.

It was announced that one member of the C of C had been dropped from the rolls because of that firm's unethical business practices, the directors said. Name of the firm was not made public.

Lions Club Luncheon

Belle Glade Lions Club members heard selections by Belle Glade High School Glee Club under the direction of Miss Merrie Texer at the Wednesday luncheon meeting this week.

Next week the Lions Club will be the guest of Shirley Brothers Concrete Products at the Redi-mix plant on S. W. 16th St. It's rumored — but unconfirmed — that the host will prepare the luncheon in one of the cement hoppers.

That's all right, we didn't believe it anyway, but you know those Lions.

Important date to remember is Feb. 19, which is Ladies' Night at Belle Glade High School cafeteria at 7:30 p. m. This will be a joint activity with clubs from South Bay, Clewiston and Moore Haven.

No dinner meeting Feb. 24.

Gambler Faces New

Attorney Jones pointed out, the city's charter does not require the city attorney to represent the city in municipal court cases. Now that the appeal has been made, Jones takes over for the city.

Jones will now handle the Circuit Court appeal of the first case. It is not expected that the city will employ professional counsel for the second prosecution in municipal court.

National Guard Still There

Belle Glade's National Guard unit is still here! Their weekly training periods pass almost unnoticed by the public; few people know of the Belle Glade unit's activities except for the individuals involved.

Within the next week or so, the Guard will stage what they call a practice alert—a time when a mythical problem will require the Guardsmen to mobilize and set up fabricated defense positions and procedures.

Working on a master plan coordinated at the battalion level, our Glades company will be fortifying officers and non-coms who in turn alert their other units.

It's all for practice, but what valuable training. Our Glades company is primarily a pipeline company, that is to say, transportation specialists who learn to supply fuel from vehicles with valuable petroleum products for operation.

In addition, these units are still trained to control riots, local disasters and problems of a local nature. Besides being Army specialists trained for wartime situations, they receive added knowledge in supplementing law enforcement agencies of the community.

It's good to know that we have well-trained "home-town" soldiers who practice their arts almost without fanfare and publicity to benefit our community, state and nation. They're not looking for glory or medals; but simply feel it's their duty. Whether the community says it in so many words, we're still grateful for their effort and devotion.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

History and legend have been interwoven to give us the story of Jose Gaspari, a man whose life was based on the theme of Tampa's famed Gasparilla pirates. The late Edwin D. Lambright, editor of the Tampa Morning Tribune, gathered more data both legend and fact and was recognized as the leading authority on the subject.

Careful research both in this country and in Spain provided ample evidence that such a colorful character did exist and operated for a considerable time as a pirate who made his headquarters in Charlotte Harbor where he utilized a number of islands for this purpose including those known as Gasparilla, Captiva, Sanibel, Cayo Costa, Cayo Pelau and, (now known as Seville).

Born at Seville, Spain in 1756 Jose attended the Royal Academy of Navigation eventually becoming an admiral in the Spanish navy. The story goes that he was the victim of a plot, accused of "stealing a quantity of royal vessels and being barely escaped with his life by boldly taking possession of a Spanish bark and sailing away to become a pirate."

Spanish records credit him with the capture of 38 Spanish ships as well as a number of U. S. and British vessels. Legend recounts his raid on Tampa when it was a tiny fishing village and the present Gasparilla Carnival represents such a raid.

Each year he makes a ghostly return to loot and pillage the city and he celebrates his achievement with a gigantic parade and week long ceremony. This year his famed invasion will occur on Monday, Feb. 8, and promises to be the most brilliant and colorful pageant ever staged.

Occurring during the period of the Florida State Fair, Feb. 2-13 visitors and home folks alike can anticipate a gala period during which dramatic activities coupled with thrilling and spectacular events provided by the 11-day Exposition offer tops in entertainment.

The 1960 Florida State Fair should show much improvement, many departments have been expanded and each of the 25 exposition buildings will be jam-packed with interesting educational and entertaining exhibits. Every phase of Florida's growth and development is covered with these magnificent displays. They include gorgeous country exhibits of agricultural and manufactured products, an outstanding art exhibit, livestock and poultry shows, a flower show, women's exhibit and the famed Electrical Exposition sponsored by the Tampa Electric Company.

A highlight of the 1960 Fair from the standpoint of top entertainment will be the appearance of Dale Robertson, popular star of the television program, "Wagon Train."

Other features include big car automobile racing, spine tingling thrill shows staged by skilled dare devil drivers who perform all manner of death defying feats.

The fair will open Feb. 2 with a gigantic Shrine parade in which thousands of flower loving Shrines from all over the nation will make merry, providing fun and frolic for everyone throughout the day and evening.

Other colorful events include the children's parade in which thousands of school children participate, scheduled for Wed. Feb. 10, and the gala and colorful Year City illuminated night parade on Thursday evening, Feb. 11.

Remember the dates, Feb. 2, through Feb. 13 with something to thrill and entertain you during the 11 big days and 11 big nights. Plan to stay in the city several days and see it all, for the Florida State Fair and Gasparilla Carnival are unsurpassed.

February History Strange Situation

The month of February has had a rough time lately in its days together. But some U. S. taxpayers may wonder whether it was worth the trouble, until February wasn't even included in the year when Romulus, one of the founders of Rome, drew up the first Roman calendar, according to World Book Encyclopedia.

Numa Pompilius, the second king of Rome, added it. He took the name from a Latin word meaning "to purify," for February was the month in which the Romans were purified for the religious festivals of the following months.

But Numa tacked "Februarius" as it was called, onto the end of the year. It wasn't until hundreds of years later that it found the place it occupies today.

In the meantime, the emperor Augustus swiped a day to add to August, the month named after him.

But the worst blow came in 1582. When, on Feb. 25, the federal income tax was made legal by the Sixteenth Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Uncle Dan From Democrat River

Dear Mister Editor:

Sometimes I think reading the newspaper too regular will shorten a fellow's days here on earth. For instance, I see where 3,568 pieces of silverware, over 1,000 goblets, and 387 plates has been stolen by the members of the United Nations cafeteria. All in all, they estimate that $45,000 worth of stuff has been stolen off by the members. The American taxpayers, of course, are footing the bill and will have to replace it. If they keep this pace up there won't be nothing left but the sugar bowl, and being a taxpayer, I'm in favor of putting a lock and chain on it. A fine mess of folks we got there trying to run the world!

And Senator Mundt thinks we need a Congressional committee to figure out a way to help the small towns. I have written to the Good Senator and told him to let us live in peace. The Federal Government has been saving the big cities to the tune of millions and if they get to saving the small towns, taxes is going to kill off the country. Our small towns is unimportant and uninvestigated and we don't want 'em ruined with no hand-out "progress" from Washington.

And it says here the U. S. Bureau of Standards is working on a hydraulic rifle for dentists. Just how this Government agency got over into the dental profession, I ain't shore. They say it won't reduce the pain but it'll reduce the vibration. I'm again more tax money for that project. As long as I got to sit in the chair and suffer, what I care if it shakes the office down?

Special Series: Income Tax Fax

How many dependents can you claim?

Each dependent must meet all five of the following conditions:

1. Dependent must have received over one-half of his support from you in 1959.
2. Dependent did not have over $600 income in 1959. Unless the dependent was your child or stepchild under 19 years of age, or if over 19 years of age, a full time student, in which case the dependent child can earn as much as long as you actually provide over one-half of the cost of support.
3. Dependent is not claimed by any other taxpayer and does not file a joint return with another taxpayer. For instance, do not list a dependent married daughter who files a joint return with her husband.
4. Dependent must be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico, The Republic of Panama or the Canal Zone.
5. Dependent must be closely related to you or be anyone else who meets requirements 1, 2, 3 and 4 above and had your home as his principal place of abode and was a member of your household, even if not related to you.

If the dependent has worked part time and earned less than $600 in 1959 or was your child under 19 or over 19 and a student, and income tax was withheld from such earnings, the dependent should file a tax return to secure refund of the tax withheld.

This will in no way prevent you from also claiming the exemption for the dependent provided, of course, that dependent meets all five of the above conditions.

High Blood Pressure Drugs Hailed As Decade's Major Medical Advance

By Sidney Davidson.
 M. D. President Florida Heart Association

Drugs now in use to treat high blood pressure represent one of the great advances of medical science during the past ten years according to the Heart Association of Palm Beach and Martin Counties. These drugs have given physicians new tools with which they can bring almost all cases of high blood pressure under control, provided of course the patient cooperates fully.

In most cases the cause of high blood pressure is not known. Doctors call the ailment "hypertension." It is quite common. Estimates of the number of Americans with high blood pressure range upward from about 5,000,000. Some authorities put the number affected as high as 15,000,000.

Hypertension adds to the work of the arteries. It causes the heart to pump with increased force. Over a period of years this may result in heart strain. The heart may enlarge and its efficiency may thus be lessened.

Individuals of strengthening the action of other, stronger drugs, enabling the doctor to use less of these to obtain the desired effect.

Other groups of drugs dilate the blood vessels, especially those in the kidneys, thus helping to ease the flow of blood. Finally, these are the nerve blocking agents which prevent the narrowing of arteries by blocking excessive nervous actions which may affect them.

In most cases of hypertension, treatment with drugs will lower the blood pressure. But there is no simple "recipe" for treating hypertension. People respond to medicines in very individual ways and the patient and his doctor may have to go through a period of trial before the drug or the combination of drugs is found that will work best.

How can you tell if you have high blood pressure? You can't. Even symptoms are not a clue. The diagnosis can only be made by a physician after examination and careful evaluation of his findings. Only a physician can tell you what you should do.

And if you want general information about the heart and blood vessels and about high blood pressure, this free information is available at the Heart Association of Palm Beach and Martin Counties.

'Dimes' Opens First Birth Defects Center

A birth defects study center, the first of its kind designed to combine clinical treatment with research and teaching, has just been officially opened at Columbus, Ohio. It is supported by funds from the New March of Dimes, which is now engaged in its January campaign for contributions to fight three major crippling diseases including, besides birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Medical experts say that birth defects are the biggest unmet childhood medical problem in the United States today. There are more than 900 different kinds of birth defects, or "congenital malformations," as they are called by doctors. They range all the way from harelip and clubfoot to mental retardation.

Some 250,000 American babies are born each year with one or more significant birth defects; and about half of this number are doomed to a lifetime of serious illness or crippling. About 34,000 infants each year are stillborn because of these afflictions, or die within the first month of life. Medical science as yet has few clues to the causes of these disorders that occur before birth; and there are few known methods of prevention.

Parents are taught to give home care to children with birth defects at the Columbus Children's Hospital Birth Defects Study Center, supported by New March of Dimes funds. Here doctors examine a baby, born with hydrocephalus, commonly known as "water on the brain," while parents get instruction.

Spread in Superstition

The study center in Columbus named Children's Hospital represents the beginning of the New March of Dimes attempt to solve a medical problem that has hitherto been largely neglected by research. It is a problem that for centuries been shrouded in superstition and fear.

By tackling this issue with a three-pronged program of research, treatment and education, the March of Dimes organization seeks to bring hope to the hundreds of thousands of patients whose lives have been blighted by bewitching tales and heartbreak following the birth of a malformed child.

This hope is bolstered by the fact that the March of Dimes organization in fighting the baffling diseases. It was March of Dimes funds that encouraged the Dr. Jonas E. Salk to become a virologist and that

Born with an open spine, two-month-old Madonna Galich is examined by a physician at the Birth Defects Study Center, just officially opened in the Columbus, Ohio, Children's Hospital. New March of Dimes funds will be used to help this baby toward a productive life.

Through the combination of treatment, teaching and research at the Columbus Birth Defects Study Center, the March of Dimes hopes to establish a new knowledge base for the devastating effects of these disorders may eventually, for the most part, be prevented or controlled.

Chamber Of Commerce Calls Attention To "Bait" Advertising Conteraction

The four-point guide recently issued by the Federal Trade Commission to help business and the public identify and avoid "bait" advertising and "switch" selling, was hailed today by I. L. Price, Executive Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

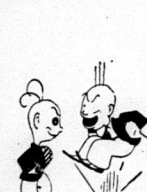

This shoddy merchandising scheme, which reputable merchants have been fighting for years, involves advertising a popular product at a sensational low price simply to lure customers to respond. Salesmen then do their best to avoid selling the bargain bait and to switch the would-be buyer to higher priced merchandise, which is frequently grossly overpriced.

Take A Second Look At Your Tax Return

Stop! Take a second look at that Federal Income tax return you are filling out.

Did you declare all of the dividends you received last year? And all of the interest you received or credited with?

It is important that you report these amounts. Laurie W. U. S. Internal Revenue Service at Jacksonville, Florida said today.

"The law requires you to report all dividends received and all interest received or credited to your account last year," Mr. Tomlinson said.

He cautioned that his office will make a closer check this year of dividend and interest items as part of the nationwide IRS program to close the $5 billion gap in unreported dividends and interest.

"So, be sure to include these items," he advised.

"Bait advertising is defined in the new guide as an 'alluring but insincere offer to sell a product or service which the advertiser in truth does not intend or want to sell. Its purpose is to switch consumers from buying the advertised merchandise to other merchandise by disclosing the truth about the advertised product: (3) discourage the purchase of advertised merchandise as part of a bait scheme to sell other merchandise; or (4) in the event of a sale of the advertised product, attempt to unsell the product with the intention of selling other merchandise in its place."
